

TestShell Studio™ – Send Mail example

General

The purpose of this test is to show how to send mail using TestShell SendMail .NET Dll.

Test description

This test demonstrates how to send mail using a suitable function. In case the mail is sent successfully confirmation message is popup respectively and vice versa.

TestShell modules used in the test

MathShell: Set values to variables to be used for debugging.

.NET Dll: operates the SendMail.NET Dll function.

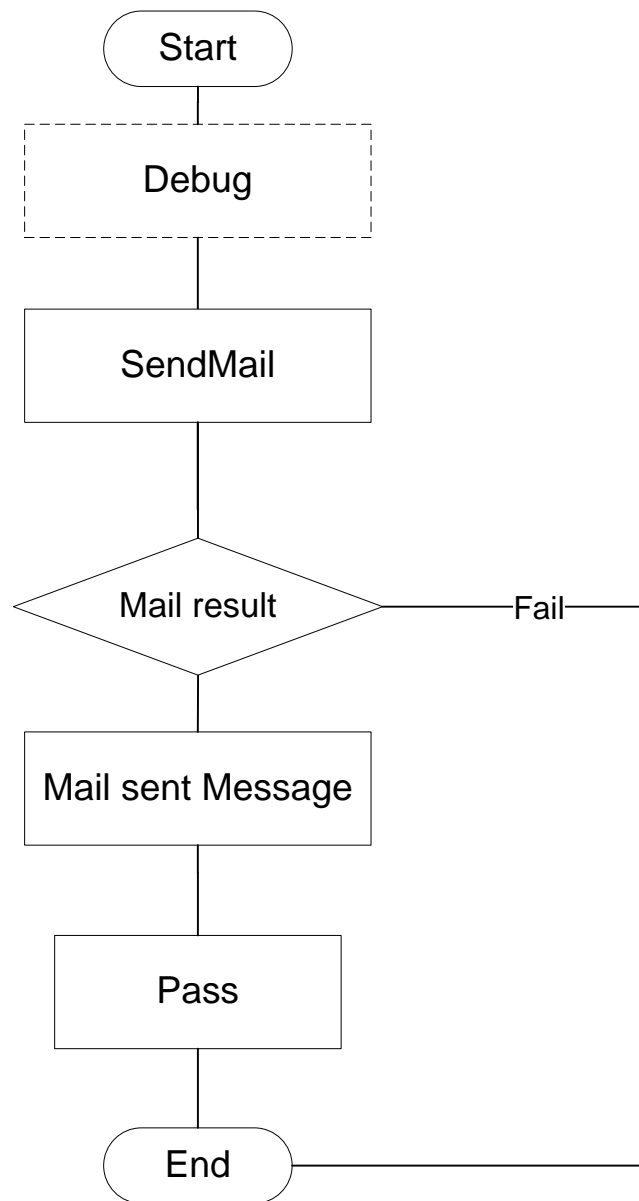

Case: Defines two (or more) alternative branches. The flow will executes one of the branches according to the condition set for this branch.

Message: displays information to the user

See user guide (including relevant appendixes) for more information on the modules functionality.

Test general description

Block diagram

Test in Studio

